"It's good to be wanted, and I wanted them just as much as they wanted me," the 26-year-old forward said. "The fact that we were able to work out a deal so quickly reflects that. Obviously when you're a free agent you have the option to do what you want, and I made it clear to them that I didn't want to go anywhere else. They reflected those same remarks back toward me."

"It's good to be wanted, and I wanted them just as much as they wanted me," the 26-year-old forward said. "The fact that we were able to work out a deal so quickly reflects that. Obviously when you're a free agent you have the option to do what you want, and I made it clear to them that I didn't want to go anywhere else. They reflected those same remarks back toward me."

Kane would have become an unrestricted free agent for the first time in his NHL career July 1.

"He's a player that we'd identified for quite a while, that fits how we want to play the game," Sharks general manager Doug Wilson said. "I mean he's only 26, turning 27 (Aug. 2). He plays with great speed and fits with not only our game but where the League is trending. To get him in place and secured was very important to us. Top-six forwards like that, there aren't many out there, and when you get one you want to make sure that he's secured."

The Sharks acquired Kane in a trade with the Buffalo Sabres for forward Danny O'Regan and conditional first- and fourth-round picks in the 2019 NHL Draft on Feb. 26. Under the terms of the trade, Buffalo will receive San Jose's first-round pick in 2019 instead of a second-round selection. The pick is lottery protected and could be moved to 2020.

"I want to win," Kane said. "I've won at every level outside of the NHL level. Having tasted playoff hockey for the first time with this group, the belief I have with this group moving forward in the future is very strong. I think we can only get better as a group. I'm looking forward to the future."

DeBoer is looking forward to coaching Kane for years to come.

"When you're signing free agents, especially elite players and guys that are going to play huge roles for you, you really want to know about them as much as possible," DeBoer said. "And you really don't know a player until you stand behind the bench and are around them every day. So that was a nice luxury to have. I think we all felt comfortable that this was a guy that could help us win, and that's why Doug went out and got it done."
